Long Term Care addition funding in the budget

Representatives of Elk Point Municipal Hospital's board and administration heaved sighs of relief Thursday afternoon, when MLA John Drobot presented them with a letter from Alberta Public Works, Supply and Services indicating that funding for the long term care addition to the hospital has been included in the new Provincial Budget.

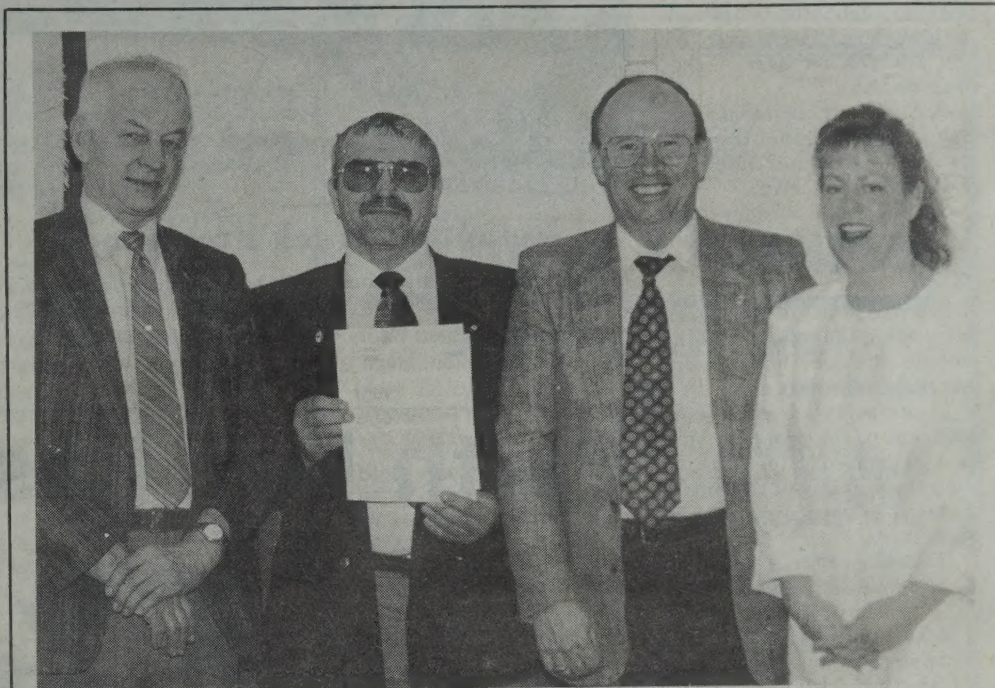

The letter from Minister of Health Nancy Betkowski and Minister of Public Works, Supply and Services Ken Kowalski gave the go-ahead for continuation of work on contract documents and commencement of construction on the long awaited addition.

The Ministers stated that "our budgetary plan for 1992-93 faces a very difficult revenue situation, however as a Government, we are committed to providing high quality health care for Albertans. We have therefore approved a substantial increase in capital funding for hospital and nursing home capital development this fiscal year. Expenditures will total $168.7 million, an increase of approximately 30 percent over the 1991-92 budgeted levels. In addition, $6.5 million will be provided to construct new health unit accommodations in two communities, where program delivery has been under considerable pressure."

Board Chairman John Mohyluk, Administrator Clem Johnson, Director of Nursing Colleen Simon and MLA Drobot were all very pleased with this approval, which came in a time of governmental fiscal restraint, and are looking forward to the commencement of construction later this year.

The Board and Administration are grateful to MLA Drobot for his unceasing efforts on their behalf regarding the long term care project.

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce welcomes Ag Society Rodeo

Representatives of the Elk Point Agricultural Society visited the well attended April 15 meeting of Elk Point Chamber of Commerce to give details on the upcoming Elk Point Agricultural Society Rodeo, scheduled for May 9 and 10. This will be the first rodeo to be held in Elk Point for more than a decade.

Fairgrounds Chairman Charlene Baker and Rodeo Chairman Josie Veer told the Chamber that the Ag Society is busy getting the fairgrounds ready for the big event. They are urging the whole community to get involved by dressing western in the week leading up to the rodeo, and by entering their "Name The Rodeo" and Ag Society Logo contests. They are also sponsoring a poster contest through the school, and are offering free tickets to all students at Elk Point Elementary and F. G. Miller High Schools.

The rodeo will be part of the Lakeland Rodeo Association circuit, which features a number of contestants from this area. There will be seven major events and two junior events, with added prize money and trophy jackets for each event. Trophy sponsors have been found for all but one event. Les Trach will be supplying stock for the rodeo, and local personality Bernie Poiras will be the announcer. Well known Rodeo Clown

Ricky Ticky Wanchuk will thrill the crowd with his antics. Saturday will feature a Rodeo Supper hosted by the Elk Point 4-H Beef Club, followed by a Rodeo Dance to the George Stratford Band. Sunday will start with a Pancake Breakfast hosted by Vogel's UFA, and tentative plans have been made for a Heavy Horse Pull that morning. There will be a beer garden both days.

The Chamber also heard a presentation from Ashton Sewlal of Alberta Power (see Saving AEEMA, on this page).

In Business From The Minutes, the Chamber was advised that Secretary Victor Stepa had sent a letter to Alberta Transportation regarding signage to direct motorists to the Fort George - Buckingham House Historic Site. They sent a representative to see the site, and now plan to establish the requested signage. Stepa said that Alberta Transportation was previously unaware that any development had been undertaken at the site.

The Chamber was reminded about the Bicentennial Decorating Contest, which has a target date of June 15, so businesses will look their Bicentennial best in time for the Official Opening of the Fort George - Buckingham House Interpretive Centre.

Saving AEEMA vital

Without marketing act, power prices could rise 25 - 37 per cent.

Today is the final day to register intent for submission of a brief to the panel appointed to review the Alberta Electric Energy Marketing Act. The Review Panel is inviting written submissions from interested persons on the suitability through the 1990s of the original objectives of AEEMA, the effectiveness and fairness of the current implementation of AEEMA, and the future of AEEMA.

Both Elk Point Town Council and the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce heard presentations from Alberta Power representatives last week. Tom Wharton and Terry Poulin of Alberta Power attended Monday's regular meeting of Council, with Wharton explaining the concept of AEEMA and the impact that discontinuance of the Act would have on local electrical power users. Four members of the Elk Point Municipal Hospital Board were also present for the informative session.

Wharton said that under AEEMA, transmission and generation costs of Alberta Power, TransAlta Utilities and Edmonton Power are pooled and averaged to determine an overall wholesale rate. Alberta Power serves half of the province's area, but only 14 percent of the province's electricity users, with the distance between users, the intense resource development in the area and Alberta Power's rapid growth contributing to increased costs. This growth has seen almost twice the increase in transmission and almost four times the increase in generation for Alberta Power as for TransAlta over the past ten years. Wharton said that for that same period, consumption of electricity in the province has doubled.

TransAlta Utilities has alleged that AEEMA leads to lower rates in "subsidized" Alberta Power areas, but Wharton said that in fact, a large percentage of Alberta Power customers are paying more than their TransAlta counterparts. Residential power costs .2 percent more, industrial power 2.2 percent more, REA farm power 4.7 percent more and oilfield power 15 percent more than in TransAlta areas. General service customers, such as businesses, pay 15.5 percent less and non-REA farm users 5 percent less in Alberta Power areas. These end rates are affected by non-AEEMA factors such as riders (including the Alberta Income Tax Rebate and temporary adjustments determined by the Public Utilities Board), revenue-to-cost ratios, policies regarding customer contributions to new service and the mix of customer classes in a specific utility.

Trade Fair - it's back!

It's a busy, busy week for the Elk Point and District Agricultural Society, as they put the finishing touches on their 1992 Trade Fair, which goes Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 24-26 at the A. G. Ross Arena.

A lengthy list of entertainment, headed by Dewberry's talented young fiddle player Kyle Jones, is planned for the weekend. The song stylings of Debbie Lawrence, Gwen Morris and Matilda Furgher, the

Dump rejected

A proposed landfill site in the Stoney Lake area was rejected by St. Paul County Council Tuesday afternoon.

"If the residents (of Stoney Lake) don't want the site, there's no reason to push it on them," St. Paul County Reeve Robert Bouchard said, during County Council meeting.

The vote to reject the proposed site, located at SE11,T56,R8W4, was unanimous. District 3 councillor Bill Ference said the landfill site was "available for the people, if they were interested. We got the message -- they didn't want it."

As a result, residents will continue to haul their garbage to landfill sites in Lafond, St. Edouard and St. Paul.

Stoney Lake resident Bill Cochrane said he was not surprised by the Council's decision.

"I'd like to thank the council for getting the concerns of the people before they went ahead," Cochrane said.

Cochrane, who owns land adjacent to the proposed site, had organized a petition to stop the building of the dump, garnering approximately 70 signatures.

However, not all Stoney Lake residents share Cochrane's enthusiasm.

Rose Ahern said she was disappointed in Council's decision, "but what can you do. They will just have to come up with something else."

Ference said the Council isn't considering building new landfill sites in St. Paul County in the near future but instead will concentrate on upgrading the sites in the area.

award winning routines of Elk Point's Ukrainian Dance Club, a farm animal zoo, homemade ice cream and knife making demonstrations and a "chicken square contest" will provide entertainment for all.

Other special highlights are the Elk Point 4-H Multi Club's Slave Auction from 11 a.m. until noon on Saturday, with 14 members and 9 leaders and parents on offer, a Fashion Show courtesy of Leigh Morgan Fashions on Saturday afternoon, and a Pet Parade for youngsters 12 and under and their pets at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Most of the 96 available booths have been booked, so there will be a wide variety of displays to interest the whole family.

Show times are Friday from 3 p.m. to 8 p.m., Saturday from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Sunday from 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Volunteer Week Proclaimed

Mayor Bruce Kleeberger has proclaimed April 26 - May 2 as Volunteer Week in Elk Point. Volunteer Week Coordinator Tracy Kjenner (right) visited Council last Monday to witness the signing of the proclamation. Have a great week, all you volunteers out there!

Earth Day tips

Elk Point Lioness Club would like to share some environment friendly tips in celebration of Earth Day 1992.

Garden Tips:

Companion Planting is worth a try. Vegetables and flowers have different odors and root secretions which are believed to affect the activity of insects and the growth of nearby plants.

-Plant marigolds and other members of the Chrysanthemum family throughout the garden to protect tomatoes, beans, and other plants from a variety of insects.

-Sow aromatic plants at intervals throughout the garden to ward off pests. Chives, dill, nasturtiums, geraniums, thyme, basil, celery, mint, garlic and onions are examples of aromatic plants often grown for their own value anyway.

-Basil is said to keep tomatoes free from infestation, and savory to protect beans. Onions or garlic sowed next to carrots will foil the carrot fly.

-Plant horseradish at the corners of a potato patch, and plant beans near potatoes to repel Colorado potato beetles.

Household Recycling Tips

-Recycle all your plastic containers and tetra paks by cleaning and sorting them (eg. plastic bags separate from plastic containers and both separate from tetra paks). Questions? Call the Town of Vermilion, 853-5358.

-Recycle your newspaper, bond paper and computer paper and take it to the trailer located beside the Bottle Depot. Sorry - we are no longer able to accept cardboard for recycling.

-Store empty hazardous waste product containers safely and securely until the next toxic waste roundup in the area.

Watch for more tips in upcoming issues of our paper.

Volunteer Week

Yes, this is your final chance to get some suggestions from Vern Lake's list of 101 Ways Top Give Recognition To Volunteers. Here are the suggestions: Send a letter of appreciation to employer, plan a "Recognition Edition" of the agency newsletter, color code name tags to indicate particular achievements (hours, years, unit, etc.), send commendatory letters to prominent public figures, say "we missed you," praise the sponsoring group or club, promote staff smiles, facilitate personal maturation, distinguish between groups and individuals in the group, maintain safe working conditions, adequately orientate, award special citations for extraordinary achievements, fully indoctrinate regarding the agency, send Christmas cards, be familiar with the details of assignments, conduct community-wide cooperative, interagency recognition events, plan a theatre party, attend a sports event, have a picnic, say 'thank you,' smile...

If none of these suggestions "fit the bill," you might consider recognizing someone in one of the ways that Community Services is promoting. Write, phone or fax to Radio LW to tell how someone outside of an organizational capacity helped you. Salutes to volunteers will be broadcast and there is a possibility that your volunteer could win one of the many prizes available. Be prepared with an answer for the reporter who may ask you to define "volunteerism." Your responses will be recorded so, if, for example, someone shoveled your walk all winter you might mention that activity and indirectly indicate to your volunteer that you appreciate that sort of help.

So far the emphasis has been on what you can do for your volunteers. But what if you're a volunteer? Well, a special event is being planned for you. The aim of Community Services is to recognize volunteers as a group. For this reason, a Volunteer Variety Social will be held Friday, May 1 at the F. G. Miller Junior-Senior High School, at 7:30 p.m. Local performers will provide the entertainment and refreshments will be served. This event is open to all volunteers -- those who volunteer for an organization, or those who help a neighbor. There is no charge for this event, but, for planning purposes, you are asked to call 724-3800 if you plan to attend the function.

If you have any questions regarding the Volunteer Week activities, please contact Tracy at Community Services, 724-3800.

In Our View

Spring!

First on our drab Alberta spring scene will come the crocuses, pushing up through the dry grey grasses on the hillsides, to breathe the word 'spring' to our winter-weary souls.

Welcome, spring flowers

Cottontopped Cattails

The long-patient cattails, waiting by the ice-bound slough on stiff brown stems, will burst into cottonballs, ready to fly when the wind offers a lift.

Alberta Trails

Golden In The Sun

Marsh marigolds will come bursting up through the moss and mud, over in the swamp areas, unfolding countless golden goblets, full of sunshine and summer.

Earth Day '92

April...the month when snowdrifts melt from roadside ditches, revealing a winter's accumulation of litter... when warm winds start to blow across the fields, lifting topsoil into the air... when farmers and gardeners start to read the herbicide and pesticide ads with a view to getting rid of their particular problems... when homes and garages get a spring going-over, with bags and boxes filled with unneeded items...

Tomorrow is Earth Day. Let's all take at least a few minutes to think about what WE can do to help this poor battered planet survive the onslaught of pollution and environmental destruction.

Let's see... we could offer to help the 4-Hers, Scouts and other groups with this spring's Highway Cleanups... if we are farmers, we could think seriously about planting shelterbelts, trying minimum tillage or leaving more trash cover to prevent wind erosion... we could look for the paragraphs which indicate how safe the garden and agricultural chemicals are for those who use them and those who consume the produce... and we could resolve to recycle every possible discarded item, by hauling it to the Lioness trailer, the bottle depot, the United Church rummage store or the Library's Garage Sale, or to next fall's toxic waste roundup...

It's the only world we have to live in. Let's make sure it stays liveable for our children and their children, as well as for ourselves.

Sweet Violets

Then, in the spring rhythm of purple and gold, we will find the shy violets, along the garden, in the dead leaves, or as these, in the swampy meadows.

Harbinger Of Berries To Come

Wild berry blossoms may still be found along some fencelines, if out of reach of roadside sprayers. These (chokecherry) once lived by my field.

See you at the trade fair

Visitors to this weekend's Elk Point Agricultural Society Trade Fair will have an opportunity to get the latest details on the upcoming Bicentennial celebrations first hand. Make sure to visit the Bicentennial booth, located at the west end of the arena, where you can buy fresh-from-the-mint Bicentennial souvenir coins, get your name in for the Lions Club's gold coin draw, or purchase your tickets for the RCMP Homecoming Ball on June 27. While you're there, you can find out more about...

The Great Western Canadian Wagon Train which will spend ten days travelling from the site of the original Fort Edmonton, near Bruderheim, to Fort George - Buckingham House, along a historic trail that was traveled by those who opened the west. The Train gathers near Vinca Bridge on July 22, leaving the next day with many exciting stops en route, as they travel toward the Forts, where they will arrive August 1 for the major Bicentennial celebration.

Those celebrations will take the form of an activity-packed weekend, with a buffalo barbecue, beerfest and dance, a gigantic Arts and Crafts Festival with stallholders coming from all over western Canada, a Black Powder Rendezvous, a reunion for descendants of Peter Fidler, Bicentennial Quilt Competition judging, and much more. Activities both at the Forts and in Elk Point will keep the whole community busy all weekend long.

Coming up even sooner is the Plowing Match on May 2 at Spring Park, which is being sponsored by the Elk Point Light Horse Club, and which includes wagon driving and log skidding events for all ages of competitors. Come out for a whole day of old fashioned fun, beginning at 10 a.m. and winding up with a supper and dance in the evening.

Other May events include the Elk Point Rodeo, May 9 and 10, when cowboys, cowgirls and rodeo fans will head into Elk Point for the first in-town rodeo in more than a decade, Elk Point Auto Club Show and Shine on May 23, and Elk Point Choral Society Spring Concert on May 27.

Get ready for the busiest and most exciting spring and summer ever, as Elk Point celebrates the Bicentennial!

Long meeting for Elk Point town council

Elk Point Town Council dealt with a lengthy agenda which included delegations from Elk Point Municipal Hospital Board and Alberta Power, at their April 13 meeting.

Hospital Administrator Clem Johnson and the Town representative to the Hospital Board, Orest Capjack, visited Council to discuss the possible effects of the Ambulance Act which is expected to be passed in the current sitting of the provincial Legislature. The Act will require municipalities to set up an ambulance board to be responsible for provision of ambulance service in those municipalities. Ambulance service could then be contracted to an existing ambulance operator or the board would have the authority set up their own service.

Elk Point Hospital Board has indicated an interest in also becoming the Ambulance Board for this area. Five municipalities are involved, and members of the Hospital Board are approaching each for their input. The Town, on the other hand, would like to see representatives from each of these municipalities and representatives of the Hospital Board become a part of the Ambulance Board. Both agreed that it would be sensible to have the area covered by the Ambulance Board coincide with the area served by the Hospital Board. Council moved to support in principle the efforts of the Hospital Board to form an Ambulance Board for that area, with the understanding that the composition of that board is still open for discussion.

Other business coming before Council was varied in nature. Councillor Allan Frankiw reported on a meeting he had attended regarding the new General Assessment now underway, which went over the basis and procedures for this process. He noted that there is a finer grid system for evaluating homes than was used in previous assessments. The Town will continue to assess at 65 percent of market value, although some communities are now moving to the new option of assessing at 100 percent.

Community Services Director Terri Ehler has now completed her probation period and has become a permanent employee, following very positive appraisals.

Council agreed to the purchase of a Cummings 80 Kilowatt generator for the sewer lift station upgrade. This unit can power pumps capable of handling the waste water requirements of up to 2370 people, and is within budget.

Fort George - Buckingham House Advisory Board representative Allan Frankiw reported that the Interpretive Centre will open May 15 as originally scheduled. A full time position will be advertised, and five STEP positions will also be available, for the May 1 to August 31 period. Any interested students may call Karen Doyle at 662-3640 for further details. Alberta Transportation appears to be less than cooperative regarding highway signage regarding the site for Highway 16, and Council agreed to write to MLA John Drobot to emphasize the need for this to be installed.

Representatives of Town and County Councils and the administration of both jurisdictions will meet April 21 to discuss the need for a modified landfill site.

A Community Tourism Action Plan application for $1495 for interior renovations to the Tourist Information Centre which was made by the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce was ratified by Council and will be sent to Alberta Tourism for their approval.

Summer water requirements for Elk Point residents were discussed. There is now an unlimited supply of water available, and treatment costs have become much less since the Town has obtained water from the North Saskatchewan River. Council is contemplating ways to encourage residents to utilize the now plentiful supply to keep lawns and gardens flourishing this summer.

Councillor Lawrence Pidluzny reported that Heritage

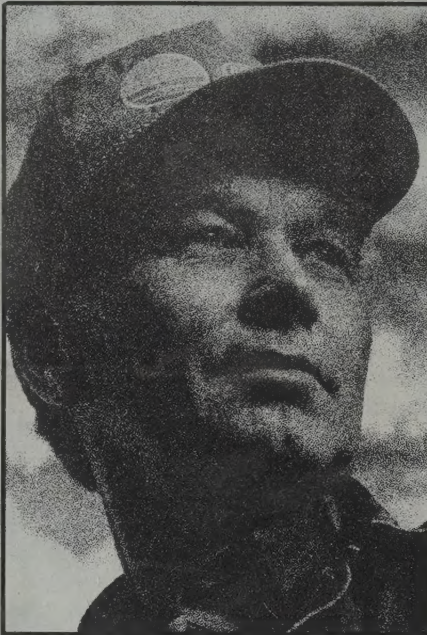

Lodge is full to capacity and running more efficiently than similar units in St. Paul. There are a number of vacancies in the self-contained seniors housing, however.

Councillor Adele Mandryk reported that the Northern Lights Library System's tendering process for headquarters renovation is now complete, with 15 bids received. However, all these bids were over budget and the contract has not yet been awarded. A meeting on April 15 will study ways to pare expenses. NLLS will have a booth at the Trade Fair to increase their profile in the community, and are also planning to show a video promoting the area's libraries on Lloydminster television.

Councillor Maurice Lafrance was elected by acclamation as the Town's Deputy Mayor for the next six months.

Don't forget the Town's Annual Ratepayers' Meeting tonight at 7:00 p.m. in the Elks Lodge Room.

KubKar Rallyists

Casper Zarowny (left) emerged third overall in the 90 participant KubKar Rally in St. Paul last week. Rhody Reed just missed getting into the final heats, but leader Karen Reed said both boys made a fine effort and everyone had a great time.

Cubs compete at rally

A total of 90 Cubs from all over northern Alberta competed in the Northern Region Kub Kar Rally April 11 and 12 in St. Paul. Among these were two members of the Elk Point Pack, Casper Zarowny and Rhody Reed.

Saturday saw the preliminary race heats hit the Kub Kar track at the Co-op Mall, with each car then placed in a fast, medium or slow category, and the top nine in each category designated for further competition. Casper placed first in the medium category, while Rhody did his best, but missed the finals by a single point.

The Cubs then had their choice of evening activities, with an opportunity to go swimming, bowling or to a movie. Finally, after an indoor 'campfire' session, everyone settled down in the Racette School gym for an indoor campout. The next morning after breakfast all participated in a short Cubs Own service and a Kub Kar Rodeo featuring a variety of events before returning to the Co-op Mall for the final races.

The top 27 cars once again hit the track, with trophies going to each of these finalists. Casper Zarowny was proud to be third overall.

Thanks from the Elk Point Scouting Association to the Toronto Dominion Bank and Alberta Treasury Branch for their trophy donations, and to BMW Monarch, Woody's Trophy and Gifts, Amoco Canada and Norcen Energy Resources for their donations to the Kub Kar Rodeo. Special thanks to Grant Nixon who had an official Kub Kar track made, which he donated to the Elk Point Cubs in memory of his late wife Charlene, who served as a Beaver leader for several years.

What's news at the library?

The storytime Easter Party, held on Friday, April 10, was attended by 36 children and their mothers. The following three stories were read: How the Spider Saved Easter, Happy Easter Little Critter and Big Bunny and the Magic Show. After the stories, a finger play, with the help of the children, called Here's A Bunny With Ears So Funny was done. The library's puppet theatre performance went over well as the children watched Max's Chocolate Chicken. Then the children scurried around the library hunting for candy Easter eggs.

Each child was given a hard boiled egg and after putting their name on the egg, the mothers helped by dipping the eggs in the dye. Happy Easter, everyone!

New Books

A beautiful illustrated book of the Galapagos Islands is Galapagos by Barbara Rogers. The Galapagos Islands are populated by birds and animals so fearless that you can reach out and touch them. It is a place where lizards swim in the sea alongside sea lions and whales, where giant tortoises hundreds of years old bask inside the cones of extinct volcanoes, where pirates once fought and where Charles Darwin made his most important discoveries. Today, visitors to the Galapagos can witness the magic of evolution firsthand. A big thank you for the generous donation of this exciting book goes out to Debra Kilby.

From the Family Circle books we have Beautiful Things To Make For Baby. For the person who enjoys crocheting, knitting, sewing and embroidering, this is the book for you.

The excitement of great occasions, the sensuous wail of the saxophone, the danceable beat of the big bands, you'll find all this in The Big Band Years by Bruce Crowther. This book lets you relive this memorable musical era.

Home Crafts Books present Fun Crafts For Kids, where over seventy great fun projects are waiting for you to try with the kids.

In A Bit of Yesterday by Aletha E. Blythe you will find she writes short fiction with surprise endings and poetry that tells a tale.

A slow learner

Rev. Sam Donaldson

Elk Point United Church

One time a little first grader was upset because Daddy was always bringing home a briefcase full of papers from the office. Instead of playing with the little girl he would be working on his papers. Her mother explained that Daddy had so much work to do he was behind in his schedules. That was the reason for bringing the work home.

Now, the little girl was familiar with the slow learners group in her school. With this in mind she asked her Mom innocently, "why don't they put Daddy in the slow group?"

Are you so busy that you don't have time for wife and children? Do you get time out to play, relax and share yourself with others? Do your family members wish you were in the "slow group?"

Jesus said to his disciples, "come you apart and rest awhile." Remember, my friend, people who don't come apart and rest awhile, just plain come apart. This can be emotionally, physically, spiritually and relationally. Do you need to graduate - to the slow group?

FACING AIDS

LEARNING ABOUT AIDS

healthy sexuality and AIDS. Another good source is your family doctor. Public libraries have many useful resources, particularly for discussing HIV and AIDS with children.

Three provincial Sexually Transmitted Disease (STD) Clinics offer free information and confidential help. The toll-free provincial AIDS/STD Information Line at 1-800-772-AIDS has recorded information 24 hours a day. For specific questions a nurse can be reached at the same number Monday through Friday from 8:15 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Nine community AIDS groups in Alberta provide helpful information about protection as well as social and emotional support to people affected by AIDS. Your local Health Unit and telephone book listings under 'AIDS' have numbers for these groups. The Feather of Hope Society provides AIDS information and support for native persons. They can be reached in Edmonton at 424-4767.

By all means, learn all you can. But knowledge is not enough.

The spread of HIV and AIDS can only be stopped when people not only understand, but support and practice behaviours that reduce the risk of the spread of HIV. The more that you know about AIDS and its prevention, the better you will be able to protect yourself and others.

For more information about HIV/AIDS you can call:

- the health unit or your doctor in your community

Alberta students have an advantage over adults who are past classroom days. Today's students are learning about HIV and AIDS. They will be well informed to help stop the spread of the disease. Also, they will be able to make informed choices about their own sexual behaviour.

Studies show that young people in Alberta want adults to help them understand the issues surrounding AIDS. They want to discuss their questions at home. Adults who have basic knowledge about HIV and AIDS can help children form their own values and help them make their own best choices about sexual behaviour and drug use.

Some adults have had few chances to learn about AIDS. Where can you go to get accurate information either for yourself or for discussions with those you care about? The health units throughout Alberta have a range of information on

Saving AEEMA vital to economy

Secondly, TransAlta has suggested that AEEMA creates inefficiencies in utilities. However, Wharton said, Alberta Power has reduced their total cost per kilowatt hour by 25 percent over the past decade, while TransAlta's total cost has dropped by 10 percent.

Thirdly, TransAlta has alleged that AEEMA makes Alberta's industrial rates noncompetitive with rates elsewhere in Canada. In fact, TransAlta's industrial rates are the lowest in Canada, while Alberta Power's are the third lowest, behind TransAlta and Manitoba Hydro.

TransAlta has also claimed that AEEMA was responsible for huge increases in TransAlta's costs, however all of these increases, including the 11 percent Alberta Income Tax Rebate and 7 percent GST, affected Alberta Power also. Only 4.5 percent of TransAlta's increase went to AEEMA, while Alberta Power's AEEMA increase was somewhat smaller.

Wharton hopes that the review panel will find that there is a need to retain AEEMA's basic principle of averaging costs to provide all Albertans with a common wholesale price for generation and transmission. He said that Alberta Power is approaching hospital and school boards, municipalities, chambers of commerce and major customers across their area to outline the needs for retention of AEEMA, and has been getting a good response to date. Alberta Power customers could pay an additional 25 percent for residential power, 27 percent more for industrial power, 33 percent for general business power and a whopping 37 percent more for farm power if AEEMA were abolished.

Ashton Sewlal and Don Patrie were Alberta Power's representatives at Wednesday's Chamber of Commerce meeting. Sewlal told the Chamber that prior to the formation of AEEMA in 1982, Alberta Power customers paid a very high rate for electricity, and that AEEMA had caused a significant reduction. For a decade, wholesale power rates have been equal among the three utilities. Six months ago, however, TransAlta Utilities decided they were not happy with AEEMA and asked to have it removed.

Sewlal feels the retention of AEEMA is "an issue of survival for every rural community. It has implications to all our customers. Our politicians need direction [on this matter] and we are asking our customers to give them this direction." He said that submissions to the review panel should contain "cold, hard facts:" what economic grief this will cause farmers, how many businesses will have to close, how much unemployment will result from increased costs if AEEMA is removed.

The concept of pooling costs is not new, Sewlal said, nor is it restricted to electricity. He gave as an example the price of mailing a letter, which is the same whether the letter is sent to a next door neighbor or across the country. He also noted that this pooling of costs benefits southern Alberta farmers who use substantial amounts of power for irrigation, as much as it does the northern customers. Energy, he feels, is a necessity, and should therefore have a fair price for all users.

The retention of AEEMA is "a critical issue" for both Alberta Power and Alberta Power's customers, Sewlal said, "and the bottom line is survival."
